ESTABLISHED 1833. · THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 24, 1885. PRICE THREE CENTS

COUNTERFEITERS BEWARE.

A Michigan Concern Enjoined.

[From the Rochester Morning Herald.]

The following injunction has been obtained by the Hop Bitters Company, of Rochester, N. Y., against Collatinus D. Warner, of Reading, Michigan, prohibiting him from manufacturing or selling "German Hop Bitters."

The President of the United States of America to Collatinus D. Warner, of Reading, Mich., his servants, workmen, salesmen and agents, and each and every one of them:

Whereas, it has been represented unto the Justices of our Circuit Court, the Hon. Stanley Matthews, and the Hon. Henry B. Brown, at Detroit, within and for said district, sitting as a court of Chancery, that you, Collatinus D. Warner, are manufacturing and selling a medicine named German Hop Bitters, in fraudulent imitation of the Hop Bitters made and sold by complainant; your said medicine being devised, calculated and intended to mislead the public into purchasing such counterfeit goods as the manufacture of the complainant.

We therefore, in consideration of the premises, do strictly enjoin you, the said Collatinus D. Warner and all and every the persons before named, from using the words "Hop Bitters" on any fluids contained in bottles so as to induce the belief that such fluids are made by complainant; and further, from manufacturing, selling or offering for sale, any bitters or other fluids in the bottles and with labels, and in the general form in which you were manufacturing and selling the bitters, called by you German Hop Bitters, on the filling of the bill; or in any other bottles, or with any other labels contrived or designed to represent or induce the belief that the bitters or fluids sold by you are the goods of the complainant, until the further order of the court. * * *

The New York Democrats in Convention.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

SARATOGA, Sept. 24.—There were fully as many ladies and prominent personages in the Casino at 11:30 this morning, to witness the proceedings of the democratic state convention, as attended the opening of the republican convention two days ago. George Raines was elected temporary chairman.

Raines, on taking the chair, addressed the convention at some length. All references to President Cleveland were greeted with cheers. Representatives of anti-monopoly leagues and the State Traders assembly then addressed the convention briefly. Burke Cochrane then offered strong resolutions against civil service laws, which were greeted with tremendous applause. These resolutions are similar to those adopted by Tammany hall some weeks ago. At 2:15 p. m. the convention adjourned until 7:30 p. m.

A Wrecked Steamer and Fifteen Persons Drowned.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

ST. JOHN, N. S., Sept. 24.—Great gloom prevails in St. John to-day over a probable great disaster, near Grand Manan. The steamer Humaccoa, which was wrecked there several weeks ago, was probably blown off the rocks and sunk, taking down, it is believed, twelve or fifteen persons belonging to this city, or the neighboring city of Portland. The tug Alida was totally wrecked as is the bark Tardenskjold. The new Inter-Colonial railroad was washed away.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 24.—It is understood that the president has decided not to make a change in the office of surgeon general of the marine hospital service and will not accept Dr. Hamilton's resignation.

The president has appointed the following commission to mark the boundary between a portion of the Indian Territory and the state of Texas to act in conjunction with a similar commission appointed by the governor of Texas: Maj. W. R. Livermore. Lieut. Thos. L. Casey and Lieut. Lansing H. Beach, of the corps of engineers of the Unitsd States of America.

The president appointed the following collectors of customs: Charles C. Sweeny, district of Galveston, Texas; Otto L. Threaghe, district of Salvria, Texas; J. J. Coche, district of Brazos, De Santiago, Texas.

The president named fifteen fourth class Ohio postmasters, and these in Indiana: Brownstown, Oscar Allen; Middletown, Wilson N. Showalter.

COMMISSIONER EATON AND PRESIDENT CLEVELAND ON CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

Mr. Dorman B. Eaton, chairman of of the civil service commission, declares that the statement that he had charged his expenses at Washington to the government, is a wanton falsehood. He further says that he did not tender his resignation, about the time the present administration came in and that he would not then have tendered it, had it been requested, as he thought a change at that time contrary to the spirit of the civil service act

The following letter of resignation by Mr. Dorman B. Eaton, chairman of the civil service commission and the presidents reply thereto, which was received by Mr. Eaton this morning, have been furnished the associated press for publication:

U. S. CIVIL SERVICE COMM'N,
WASHINGTON, D. C.,
July 28, 1885.

SIR:—In execution of a purpose, of which I informed you several weeks since, I very respectively tender my resignation as civil service commissioner, but out of deference to your wishes, I will not urge its acceptance until such time in the autumn, as you will find it convenient to make a new appointment.

It may not, I hope, be thought, inappropriate, if I add some words of explanation. Prior to the passage of the civil service act of January 16th, 1883, I had held under three earlier presidents, and was then holding under President Arthur, an official position closely analogous to my present office, as civil service commissioner. For nearly the whole period I had served without compensation and had been compelled to bear my own traveling and other expenses, including those of a journey to Europe and the preparation of an extensive report, made at the request of one of these presidents, but endorsed by congress. I had taken an active part by which my time was largely taxed, in connection with the preparation and passage of that law. When the time arrived for executing its provisions, it seemed to me that I could not be fairly called upon to make a further sacrifice of my private interests, in aid of civil service reform. Besides the enemies of reform were so kind as to charge that I had promoted the act for a treble purpose of gaining notoriety, an office, and salary. But President Arthur, without the least intimation to me of his purpose, nominated me, and I was confirmed as a commissioner. When I thought to decline, the friends of reform, with whom I had labored many years in its behalf, insisted that I was in duty bound to accept and these enemies with amiable consistency, made clear their purpose of charging any refusal on my part, as a cowardly shrinking from the speedy and disgraceful failure to follow any attempt to execute so chimerical and impracticable a statute. In such a situation I had hardly a choice, but I entered upon my official duties with the declared purpose of remaining hardly more than a year, in which at least the constructive work of making rules and regulations and of enforcing a new system, at its most difficult stages, could be accomplished. At the end of that time I had become more deeply than ever interested in the practical application of the new system. Its great utility and easy process had gained the commendation of the president, united more largely the party in its favor and seemed from a committee of thirteen members of the Democratic house of representatives, a unanimous report declaring the great usefulness of the law and rules and commending what is desired as the intelligent, efficient, non partisan and conscientious work of the civil service commission. I could then see no obligation on me to remain longer. That had been done which the enemies of reform had declared to be impossible. The law and the rules were indicated, but there were impractical methods which were not fully matured and I remained to take a part in their development. When a few months later I was about to insist on being relieved then friends disuaded me by urging that there would be a critical period, in case a new party should come into powor and I saw plainly from hostile journals that I should be charged, if I resigned, with fleeing from the perils of that crisis. It was clear enough that no excuse from long service and declaration of my confidence in the reform policy of the presidential candidate and statesmen of the Democratic party, would relieve me from the damaging plausibility of such a charge. As a private citizen I could scorn the imputation, but as a public officer and as being in a private way somewhat identified with the cause of civil service reform, I had no right to make an opportunity for its natural enemies, in either party, to use such a charge to its injury. There was another reason why I could not tender my resignation and should have refused to do so, had it been requested at the time of your accession to office; for I should regard it as a pernicious precedent, utterly repugnant to the spirit of the civil service act, to treat the office of civil service commissioner as a political one, and hence as one to be filled at the beginning of each presidential change. These considerations constrained me to continue in my place until the reform policy of your administration so clearly defined in your declaration, should be as unmistakably developed in your acts as president as it had been in your acts as governor of New York. That time has arrived and no candid man can longer pretend to regard that policy as indefinite or doubtful Every one of the five months of your administration during which the civil service act and rules have been enforced with as much breadth, firmness and fidelity as under that of President Arthur, has not only added new evidence to the utility of the new system upon which he congratulated the country, but has made more definite the settled purpose of your administration to faithfully enforce both the law and the rules in the future.

The few changes you have made in the rules, have but added to their justice and efficiency. So far as I have been able to learn, there is not a member of your cabinet, who has not, as the result of his experience in office, a higher sense than before of the need of enforcing that merit system in the public service, which the civil service act and the rules have established. * * * * * It is really an issue between the people and the politicians, a contest for a spoil, system of office on one side and for a meritsystem of office on theother. The friend of the latter contend for the free opportunity of every citizen to win an office for himself, by his own merits; the former for the exclusive rights of great officers and great politicians to use all the hundred thousand places they can control and all the assessments they can extort, to bribe voters, to buy the press, to elect themselves and to keep their party in power, against the will of the people. Between these extremes there is unquestionably a large number of candid and patriotic citizens. I do not refer to these facts, so decisive of the perpetuity of the merit system, with vain conceit that if they were otherwise or the prospect was discouraging, my remaining a commissioner would avail anything; but I wish to leave no doubt of my absolute faith in the coutinuing triumph of a reform policy and no friend of reform has the least reason for thinking I ought longer to remain in my office. DORMAN B. EATON.

CLEVELAND'S REPLY.

Dorman B. Eaton.

DEAR SIR: I cannot refrain from expressing my sincere regret, that you have to withdraw from the position in the public service, where your intelligent performance of duty has been of inestimable value to the country. The friends of civil service reform and all those who desire good government, fully appreciate your devotion to the cause in which you early enlisted, and they have seen with satisfaction that your zeal and faithfulness have not led you to suppose that the reform in which you was engaged, is unsuited to the rules which ordinarily govern progress in human affairs, or that it should at once reach perfection and universal acceptance. You have been willing patiently to accept good results as they, step by step, could be gained, holding every advance with unyielding steadfastness. The success which has attended the work of civil service reform, is largely due to the fact that its practical friends have proceeded upon the theory that real and healthy progress can only be made as such of the people who cherish pernicious political ideas, long fostered and encouraged by vicious partianship, are persuaded that the change contemplated by the reform offers substantial improvement and benefits. A reasonable toleration for old prejudices, a graceful recognition of every aid, a sensible utilization of every instrumentality that promises assistance and a constant effort to demonstrate the advantages of the new order of things, will in the future be the means by which the opposition of incorrigible spoilsmen, will be rendered ineffectual and the cause placed upon a sure foundation. Of course there should be no surrender of principle nor backward step and all laws for the enforcement of the reform should be rigidly executed; but the benefits which its principles promise, will not be fully realized unless the acquiescence of the people is added to the stern assertion of a doctrine and the vigorous execution of the laws. It is a source of congratulation that there are so many friends of civil service reform marshalled on the practical side of the question, and the number is not greater of those who profess friendliness for the cause, and yet mischievously and with supercilious self righteousness, discredit every effort not in exact order with their attenuated ideas. They decry with carping criticism the labor of those actually in the field of reform; and, ignoring the conditions which bound and qualify every struggle for a radical improvement in the affairs of government, demand complete, immediate perfection. The reference in your letter to the attention of the members of my cabinet to the merit system, established by the civil service law, beside being entirely correct, exhibits an apprehension of honest endeavor in the direction of reform and a disposition to do justice to proved sincerely, which is most gratifying. If such treatment of those upon whom the duty rests of administrating the government, according to reform methods, was the universal rule and if the embarrassments and perplexities attending such an administration, were fairly regarded by all those who profess to be friendly to such methods, the avowed enemies of the cause, would be afforded less encouragement. I believe in civil service reform and its application in the most practicable form attainable; among other reasons, because it opens the door for the rich and the poor alike, to a participation in public office—holding this view, I hope the time is at hand when all our people will see the advantages of reliance upon merit and fitness instead of a dependence on the caprice or selfish interest of those who impudently stand between the people and the machinery of their government. In the one case, a reasonable intelligence and the education which is freely furnished to the youth of our land, are the credentials to office; in the other, the way is found in the favor secured by a participation in partisan work, often unfitting a person morally, if not mentally and physically, for the responsibilities and duties of public employment. You will agree with me, I think, that the support which has been given to the present administration, in its efforts to preserve and advance reform, by a party returned to power after an exclusion for many years from participation in the places attached to the public service; confronted with a new system precluding the re-distribution of such places in its interest; called upon to surrender advantages which a perverted partizanship had taught the American people belong to success and perturbed with the suspicion, always engendered in such an emergency, that their rights in the conduct of this reform had not been scrupulously regarded, should receive due acknowledgment and should confirm our belief that there was a sentiment among the people better than a desire to hold office, and a patriotic impulse upon which he can safely rest the integrity of our institutions and the strength and perpetuity of our government.

I have determined to request you to retain your prerent position until the 1st of November next, at which time your resignation may become operative. I desire to express my entire confidence in your attachment to the cause of civil service reform and your ability to render it efficient aid, and I indulge the hope and expectation that notwithstanding the acceptance of your resignation, your interest in the object for which you have labored so assiduously, will continue beyond the official term which you surrender.

Yours very truly,
GROVER CLEVELAND.

REGULAR SESSION, SEPT. 22, 1885.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

We, the committee to whom was referred the resolution of Councilman Kensill to examine the building known as the "Good Shepherd" church, beg leave to report that we have examined said building and find that it is safe and in good condition. We would recommend that the mayor issue orders to the marshal, the deputy marshals, the chief of police and the police to look after unoccupied houses within the city limits and to prevent, so far as possible, damage to the same by mischievous and vicious persons, as was the case with the "Good Shepherd" church building.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

We, the committee appointed to investigate the alley sewer between Clay and Lafayette streets, running from Wallace to Virginia streets, respectfully report that we find said alley sewer has not been constructed in accordance with the plans and specifications. At one point the sewer lacks three feet of being the specified depth and varies at other points from one to two feet. On account of the variation in the depth of the sewer C. H. Waltemath was compelled to abandon said sewer and drain into the alley sewer south of his property, thereby causing him an extra expense of $29.50. We recommend that the city treasurer be instructed to refund to C. H. Waltemutch the sum of $29.55 and that the same amount be collected from Joseph Derheimer, the contractor who built said alley sewer. If Joseph Derheimer refuses to refund said sum, we recommend that he be debarred from further work for the city.

REPORT OF COUNCILMAN OF THE THIRD WARD.

As a member of the council from the Third ward I submit the following report as to the street commissioner's report in reference to the condition of the sidewalks on the west side of Calhoun street between Baker and Brackenridge streets. I find that all of said walk has been repaired and placed in reasonably safe condition, excepting that portion fronting on Nos. 242 and 246 Calhoun street. I also found portions of the walk between Baker and Chicago streets, on Calhoun, out of repair. I should respectfully recommend that the street commissioner serve the proper notice upon the respective owners to repair such defective sidewalks at once and upon their failure so to do that the street commissioner proceed according to law.

CHARLES F. MUHLER, Mayor.

Referred to the committee on Finance.

AGREEMENT.

This memorandum witnesseth that the Kerr Murray Manufacturing company, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, upon the conditions hereafter stated, does hereby grant permission to the city of Fort Wayne to enter upon lot E, Hamilton's fifth addition to the city of Fort Wayne, and excavate for and construct a sewer thereon as now shown upon the specifications now on file in the city civil engineer's office of said city. The conditions are that the said city will construct said sewer with all reasonable dispatch, that it will cause the contractor to remove and preserve for said company all or so much as it may be necessary to remove of the crock of the old sewer now situated on said premises, and the said city is to cause said contractor to replace all earth excavated in as good condition as the same was previous to the excavation and if any puddled earth is removed the same is to be replaced in an equally firm and solid condition and said city is at all times to keep said sewer in a good condition of repair. Said repuddling to be of the same character as now exists thereon and to be made to the satisfaction of A. D. Cressler, of said company and the city civil engineer of said city.

KERR MURRAY MFG. CO.
By A. D. CRESSLER, Prest.

I, Joseph Derheimer, contractor for the construction of the above sewer, hereby agree to comply with all the specifications and conditions in the above agreement set out and named. JOS. DERHEIMER.

Sept. 21, 1885.

Approved and clerk instructed to have same recorded.

REPORT OF POUNDMASTER.

I would respectfully report that I have collected fees at the city pound during the months of August and September to the amount of $78.20 of which I have turned in to city treasurer $70, leaving balance on hand of $8.20. FRED H. WOEHNKER.
Poundmaster.

THE Marquis of Salisbury is fully six feet in height, and has a rather unwieldly figure. In speaking he runs naturally to a melancholy that is very interesting in and of itself, and at times rises to pathos. At best he is terse, vigorous, and clear; not the equal of Gladstone at any time, but probably the next in rank.

THERE is prospect of relief for a suffering community. The druggists of Philadelphia, which is the headquarters of the patent medicine business, say that the rate-cutting on these medicines has become so great that there is no longer any profit either for the manufacturer or the seller. That being the case, their production will soon cease, and sick people will have an opportunity to get well.

ONE of the largest fruit farms in the world is situated in the southern part of Florida, and is owned by E. A. Osborn, of Middletown, N. Y. It comprises 2,500 acres, and is covered with over 200,000 cocoanut trees. So far the undertaking has cost over $100,000. As the cocoanut only thrives south of the frost line and near the coast, the owner of this farm has a practical monopoly of that trade in Florida.

A LONDON journal, quoting statistics to back it up, presents as a moral paradox the statement that the most poorly paid working girls in the metropolis are those engaged in the work of sewing and binding Bibles. It adds that "for every heathen abroad who can be induced to use the sacred volume for anything else than gun-wadding, a dozen of these girls are driven to perdition at home."

Low spirits and mental depression are frequently the companions of bodily ailments. With the physical orgauization restored to its normal vigor, the spirits take on new activity. Sam Hemple, the well known comedian, after a period of lassitude and depression used Mishler's Herb Bitters, and he has quickly restored to his old energy. When has professional friends would inquire. "What has came over the spirit of your dreams?" Sam would reply, "Mishler's Herb Bitters."

Indigestion Cured!

I suffered for more than five years with indigestion, scarcely able to retain the simplest food on my stomach. The burning sensation was almost intolerable, and my whole system was deranged. I was wakeful and could not sleep, and consequently more or less nervous all the time. I declined in flesh, and suffered all the usual depression attendant upon this terrible disease. In a word, I was miserable. At last, failing to find relief in anything else, I commenced to use Swift's Specific. I began to improve at once. The medicine toned up the stomach, strengthened the digestive organs, and soon all that burning ceased, and I could retain food without the slightest difficulty. Now my health is good, and can eat anything in the shape of food, and digest it without the slightest difficulty. I most cheerfully bear this testimony, because there are hundreds suffering as I was, and I am sure they can be as readily healed. Take the prescribed dose after eating, instead of before.

Free From Malaria.

In the fall of 1884 I was taken with a case of malarial fever which prostrated me both body and mind. I was drugged after the old fashion with mercury and other mineral mixtures, but with no good results. My health was shattered and my energy gone. My legs and feet would swell, and I had what everybody thought was dropsy. These symptoms alarmed me, and I was ready to grasp at any remedy suggested. A friend advised me to try Swift's Specific. I procured three bottles and commenced its use. The swelling soon subsided. I have taken the three bottles, which have made a perfect cure, and I feel like a new man to day. There never was a more meritorious medicine offered to suffering humanity. It has wrought wonders for me. WILLIS JONES.

HUGH CONWAY.

THE AUTHOR OF "CALLED BACK."

The phenomenal popularity of the tale entitled "Called Back" caused universal interest to be felt in its author, Mr. F. J. Fargus, better known by his nom de plume, "Hugh Conway." His untimely death at Monaco, on the 15th of May, cut short a brilliant career in the midst of its first fulfillments. He was but thirty-seven years of age. There is something profoundly melancholy in the thought that Mr. Fargus had for so many years worked on patiently and persistently almost unknown, until on a sudden success and popularity came to him, and gave to him not merely money, but the position and reputation which are far dearer to a literary man. His success was startling, but it was not undeserved. He could tell a story to a generation that were very eager to have stories told to them, and were beginning to get a little weary of the purposeless and bloodless pamphlets which had of late been usurping the place of romance. Mr. Fargus was born in Bristol, (Eng.), in the year 1847. Like many adventurous, imaginative boys, he conceived a passion for the sea. Instead of thwarting this inclination, his father wisely decided to give him some experience of nautical existence by placing him on board the school-frigate Conway, at Liverpool. He pursued his sea-training with considerable good fortune, but afterward decided to go into business, and eventually became a partner in the principal auctioneering firm in Bristol, England. He now developed a literary faculty, and, under the "pen-name" of "Hugh Conway," wrote a number of short stories and verses, many of the latter being set to music. In the Winter of 1883 there appeared in Arrowsmith's Annual (a local Bristol publication) a story entitled "Called Back." Its weird and Poe-like incidents took the public fancy amazingly. Like Lord Byron, he awoke and found himself famous. The novelette sold by hundreds of thousands. Offers of literary work came in on all sides. That he was a genius, other tales besides "Called Back" and "Dark Days" attest, notably some of those which originally appeared in Blackwood, and which were afterward collected and published in two volumes under the title of "Bound Together." All his stories show that he could depict character as well as invent incident, and that he possessed a vein of delicate humor as evinced in the creation of the two bachelor brothers. During the past year he decided to give up business, and devote himself entirely to literature. It is to be feared that he had overtasked his powers in endeavoring to fulfill the engagements he had made. Mr. Fargus was popular in his native city, not only as a writer, but as a citizen and a commercial man.

INSECTS AS FOOD.

A Subject of Interest to Every Philanthropist.

A gentleman of considerable reputation as a naturalist, and with an ambition to be considered a benefactor to his race, has written a book on whose title page appear the following words: "Why Not Eat Insects?" He shows, what is by no means new, that they are very numerous, and exist in great variety. It requires little argument to demonstrate the proposition that they are "within the reach of all," including the poorest. The statement is then made, the truthfulness of which none will question, that their number might be greatly reduced with obvious advantage to all persons, especially to farmers and fruitgrowers. It is a well-known fact that food crops in various parts of the world are often destroyed by insects. That nearly all the insects injurious to vegetation are of fine flavor, and very numerous, the author of this work declares from personal experience to be true. He says he knows whereof he speaks, for he has tasted them in various ways, and was astonished to see how appetizing they are.

Many of them are delicious when eaten raw, while others are improved by cooking. Many of them have a gamey, spicy, or peppery flavor which makes them very appetizing. It is seldom necessary to use condiments on them. He says insects furnish a variety of agreeable flavors not found in the long list of vegetables and animal substances commonly employed for food, even when they are prepared for the table by the most skillful cooks. The art of cooking insects is yet in its infancy, and, as a consequence, their possible value as articles of food has not been ascertained. He advises not only epicures, but dyspeptics, and all who have poor appetites or suffer from indigestion, to try insects. He insists that many of them are delicious from the first, while the taste for others is acquired.

The arguments made by this writer in favor of eating insects are all good, if they are not convincing. He might have added to them how birds, animals, and fish thrive that live principally, if not entirely, on insects. The whale is an insect-eater, and, as is well-known, assumes enormous proportions, while it is very fat, active, and strong, and ordinarily lives a century if it does not meet a violent death. The giant ant-eater is a formidable beast, remarkable for its strength and long life. The most beautiful as well as the most musical of all our song birds subsist almost entirely on a diet of insects. The mocking-bird soon loses its superior gift of song and imitation if deprived of spiders, which constitute its favorite article of food. Here is a suggestion that opera singers would do well to take advantage of.

A distinguished ornithologist states that the metallic luster on the plumage of birds is due to the insects they eat. Birds that devour grain, fish, and vegetables have homely or unattractive plumage, but the feathers of the birds that eat bugs, ants, and a variety of small insects, are very beautiful. The crow, which eats corn and meat, is an awkward, clumsy, disagreeable bird, that produces a most discordant sound, and has no friends. The lady bird, however, is a marvel of beauty and loveliness, and spends its time, when not displaying its fine plumage, in eating insects.—Chicago Times.

RIDDEN THE AMERICAN GOAT.

A St. Louis Mongolian tells a reporter of the Globe-Democrat that Masonry was introduced in China about sixty years ago, by an Englishman. It now extends through all the Kingdom, having lodges and chapters in every principal city. It was established among the Chinese of America about fifteen years ago, and St. Louis is the only large city which has no lodge. "We call ourselves United Brother Masons, and the only difference between our ritual and the Caucasians, is that one is written in Chinese, the other in English. In China the thirty-two degrees are administered, but in this country we are not allowed to take more than three degrees—the entered apprentice, fellow-craft, and master degree. I don't know why it is, but this restriction is placed upon us here; in order to go higher than the third degree we must return to China. There are about 30,000 Chinese Masons in America. In the San Francisco lodges there are from 16,000 to 20,000; in New York there is a membership of fully 1,000. The meetings are conducted the same as in the English-speaking lodges, the ceremonies, officers, etc., being identical. Monkey business? Oh, yes, we make all new candidates ride the goat. Our initiation has the same delights and terrors for the victim, and we have lots of fun, of course.

Attention, Railroad Men!

"I suffered for more than a year with indigestion. I was very bilious, occasionally having a dumb chill followed by fevers which prostrated me. I took Simmons Liver Regulator, and am thoroughly satisfied that it is all that it is recommended for indigestion and bilious complaints, for mine was a stubborn case. Many of my friends speak of it and they all agree that it possesses all the virtues you claim for it." A. H. Hightower, conductor C. R. R., Ga.

THE story which comes from Paris, that Bismarck has his eye on Cuba, with the intention of eventually acquiring that island for Germany, is the drollest political romance which has come under water during the year. Bismarck's career has not been such as to indicate that he could have a dream so idiotic. Though Spain should offer Cuba to him as a gift, the chances would be greater of a full head of hair again on the German Chancellor than of a perfection of his nation's title to the island. This nation at present is not out of real estate; it is in no mood for acquisition; but, somehow, it doesn't seem to want any foreign power for a neighbor in addition to those it has already. It isn't sociable nor affable. When Cuba passes from the hands of Spain it will be into the hands of the United States.

The Most Wonderful Fluid.

—The blood, It is our life. It must be in good order to go through the very delicate little tubes through which it is constantly coursing. Of itself the fluid is without color, but as we look at it, is a deep red; the corpuscles give it that color, by reason of the iron in them. The corpuscles are so small that it takes 3,100 of them laid in a straight line to make an inch. Brown's Iron Bitters carries iron to these little corpuscles, and thus enriches the blood when it is poor, thus conferring health and vigor. This famous tonic is only a dollar a bottle, at the druggists.

MARY is the commonest name in France, where, as in Italy, the custom prevails of giving the Virgin's name to a boy, in conjunction with a distinctly male appellation. Thus Hugo was Victor Marie, and the late Pope was Giovanni Maria. After Mary come in order of frequency Louis, Joseph, Charles, Henry, John, Francis, Peter, Paul, Julius, Maurice, Anthony, Eugene, Leo, Victor, Augustus, Edward, Ernest, and George.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Are You Bilious?

The Regulator never fails to cure. I most cheerfully recommend it to all who suffer from Bilious Attacks or any Disease caused by a disarranged state of the Liver.
KANSAS CITY, Mo. W. R. BERNARD.

Do You Want Good Digestion?

I suffered intensely with Full Stomach, Headache, etc. A neighbor, who had taken Simmons Liver Regulator, told me it was a sure cure for my trouble. The first dose I took relieved me very much, and in one week's time I was as strong and hearty as ever I was. It is the best medicine I ever took for Dyspepsia.
RICHMOND, Va. H. G. CRENSHAW.

Do You Suffer from Constipation?

Testimony of HIRAM WARNER, Chief-Justice of Ga.: "I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for Constipation of my Bowels, caused by a temporary Derangement of the Liver, for the last three or four years, and always with decided benefit."

Have You Malaria?

I have had experience with Simmons Liver Regulator since 1865, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the times for diseases peculiar to malarial regions. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation.

WHITE SEAL BURNING OIL

The New York board of health estimates that 30,000 lives have been destroyed by the explosive qualities of petroleum. If every household would adopt the White Seal oil for family use, none of these unfortunate accidents would occur.

WHITE SEAL BURNING OIL

has none of the defects usually found in common oils. It cannot be exploded, does not char the wick, will not smoke, emits no offensive odor, and prevents the breaking of chimneys.

WHITE SEAL BURNING OIL

is a rich oil for illuminating purposes. It is as light in color as pure spring water. It gives a strong steady light, and burns much longer than common oils.

If the White Seal Burning Oil is not sold in your vicinity, send your order direct to us for a barrel or a case containing two neat five gallon cans.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 24, 1885.

THE CITY.

S. W. Dodge returned from the north this morning.

Nathan Ehrman started for a visit to Germany yesterday.

Joe Brown is pitching for the Williamsport, Pa., base ball club.

They are only working eight hours in the Pittsburg machine shop now.

Supt. Stevens, of the Wabash, went west this morning on a special train.

John Scheffer and Philip Lindlag went north on a hunting expedition to-day.

Anna Schnelker et al. have sold lot 407, Hanna's addition, to Henry Somers, for $2,500.

Borden Grover, of Terre Haute, is in the city the guest of Harry Borden, the young attorney.

Wanted, 500 men to go Siberia. Train leaves at Masonic Temple Friday and Saturday, Sept. 25 and 26.

Mr. Charles Bishop, of Prescott, Ari., is in the city, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Sims Major, of 132 Broadway.

To-night will occur the attractive lecture of Rev. Senneska Ogta on his native Japan, at the Berry Stret M. E. church.

The shooting tournament at the fair grounds closed to-day. The Fort Wayne marksmen acquitted themselves nicely in the shoot.

A man by the name of Dodge died at the residence of Mrs. Taylor, on South Calhoun street. The remains were taken to New York City for interment.

An emigrant train west passed through on the Pittsburg this morning. Only half the train was loaded with emigrants and the balance was made up of peaches.

The coming state committee of the Y. M. C. A., promises to be very largely attended by delegates from almost every part of the state. Our people will give them all a warm reception.

Bartley Campbell's great "Siberia," at the Temple Friday and Saturday night. Advance seats are going so are a few thousand people. This will be the first fashionable theatrical gathering of the season.

John Hogan, the pickpocket, was yesterday sentenced to five years in the prison north and fined $100. Hogan touched a woman at the fair grounds during the reunion and the jury is evidently down on the business.

J. M. Briant, of South Whitley, who was so fortunate as to draw $5,000 in the Louisiana lottery, has purchased the trotting horse, Pea Nut, paying for him $1,000. The next thing he bought was a stop watch to time Pea Nut with.

There was an eclipse of the moon last night but as fair luna was nearly 442,500 miles from the earth, the matter is not of a local character. We might look at exchanges through Prof. Clippenger's telescope, but other papers have a monopoly of this business.

"The Firemens' Home, 24 East Berry street, Fort Wayne, E. W. Lindeman, proprietor, is the finest resort in that city, for the thirsty. Billy is a genial host and his friends are—legion. 'Gus,' his good-looking assistant, is very polite and attentive," says C. A. Alvord, in the Albion Democrat.

Lieut. Frank Wilkinson carries a handsome cane, the gift of Buel Webster, now a convict at the prison north. The cane is a combination of sole leather bits surrounding a steel rod. Webster is seeking a pardon and may get it. He is termed the best convict at the prison north and the authorities permit him to roam about at will.

Statistics gathered by the state board of health and transmitted to the county health officer, Dr. H. V. Sweringen, show that during the six months ending Sept. 12, there were forty-six suicides in Indiana, while during the corresponding period last year there were fifty-nine. Of these thirty-two were females and fourteen males. Twelve of the suicides were by hanging, which seems to be the favorite way of "shuffling off."

The Gazette states that Mr. M. V. B. Spencer is in Chicago trying to sell the Journal printing establishment. We suppose Mr. Spencer has come to the conclusion that the people of Fort Wayne are wide awake and will not patronize a newspaper that does not give its readers the telegraphic news. Freight train dispatches are good enough for small towns and graveyard communities, but they will never prosper and grow fat in a city the size of Fort Wayne.

Governor Isaac P. Gray, visited the northern prison in an official capacity this week, the first since his election to the governorship. He drove to the prison yesterday morning and inspected the new buildings, as well as other improvements, and made a tour of the cell houses and shops. In the afternoon he accorded an interview to all the convicts who wished to talk with him, and the number was large. He met his Michigan City friends in the evening.

W. D. Page has returned from Chicago.

Will Cooper will go on the Journal again next Monday.

Mrs. Eli Greensfelder, of Logansport, is visiting relatives in this city.

Geo. Houghton, of Pittsburg, Pa., is in the city visiting his many friends.

Louis Jocquel was registered at the Hotel English, Indianapolis yesterday.

This is frosty weather and a sample of what sailors style the equinoctial storms.

Fred C. Meyer, of Douglas avenue, is just recovering from an attack of rheumatism.

Miss Minnie Adams, of 70 Douglas avenue, returned from Richfield Springs, N. Y., this afternoon.

There will be a great excursion to Petoskey on Sept. 29. The fare for the round trip will be $5.

August Detzer, the Calhoun street druggist, who has been at Chicago for a week, returns to-night.

Mrs. James Humphrey, of Bluffton, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. James Bayliss, at Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Wm. Fleming and daughter, Miss Georgie, were guests at the Grand hotel, Indianapolis, yesterday.

"Miss Minnie Schust, of Fort Wayne, was in the city visiting friends yesterday," says the Grand Rapids Democrat.

Dr. Munhall and the executive committee of the Y. M. C. A., will remain at the Aveline during the meeting of the state convention.

The ditch commissioners have filed, with County Recorder Heller, a report establishing the Gerardot ditch in Jefferson township.

The seventh annual reunion of the 44th regiment, Indiana volunteers, will be held at South Whitley, Ind., on Wednesday, October 21, 1885.

Postal cards are scarce and Postmaster Kaough finds he cannot supply the demand. The new cards are not yet plentiful, but his order is in for a cart load of them.

George Ellis, the fellow who criminally assaulted a little girl, was taken to prison by Ferdinand Meyer this morning. Mr. Meyer was especially empowered by Sheriff Nelson.

"Superintendent P. S. O'Rourke, of Fort Wayne, passed through this city yesterday on his way to Butler. He made the News office a short call," says the Kendallville News.

A jolly party, consisting of Henry C. Paul, John C. Peters, T. E. Ellison, Will Bond, James M. Barret, Frank Rawles, Fred Meyers and James Thomas, went south to-day on a fox hunt.

'Growler,' in the Fort Wayne Gazette, of Tuesday, contradicts himself no less than five times in his items concerning Eli W. Brown. 'Growler' is a very tiresome fellow, says the Columbia City Post.

Twenty-two years ago yesterday, President Abraham Lincoln issued his great proclamation of emancipation, by which instrument the freedom of the 4,000,000 slaves was secured the first January following.

In the superior court yesterday judgement in favor of Eliza Hanna, was given in foreclosure against Francis B. Kincaid et al. for $458.43. William Smith also obtained judgement on a note for $369.25 against Lewis C. Schutt.

Reports of fifty roads for August, given by the Railroad Gazette, show a decrease of 5 per cent., or leaving out the Wabash, of 2½ per cent. This is in spite of large gains on the Southern Atlantic coast roads and handsome increases by the Southwestern lines.

Carl P. Swain, our only Associated Press reporter, entered a bicycle race at Winchester, Ind., and captured second prize. In the meantime Mr. O. L. Perry takes the telegraph report in Mr. Swain's absence. Double duty, night and day, is telling on the genial manager.

"Rev. T. Thiem, of the German Lutheran church of this city, assisted by two bishops from Fort Wayne, conducted a mission service at Shineman's grove last Sunday morning and afternoon. A collection was taken up from which $45 was realized, which goes to the missionary fund," says the Columbia City Post.

Auditor of State Rice has directed the secretary of state not to recieve, if proferred, the Drapier brevier reports of the legislative session of 1885. No provision was made to pay for them and Mr. Rice refuses to make the state liable for the books, which are ready for delivery. Lieut. Governor Manson may issue a senate warrant for the amount but even this Mr. Rice may decline to honor.

F. W. Kuhne and Dr. Leonard will play that great game of chess with live figures at the Princess next Tuesday night. Many people are of the opinion that the game will be a long and tedious. That will not be the case by any means. The limit for each move is fixed at one minute, so that not over thirty minutes will be occupied by the game. Then will follow music, dancing, skating. The little misses to officiate as figures will be pretty as pictures, besides the novel entertainment is for charity.

The Wabash shops will be closed Friday and Saturday to cut down expenses. The freight on the road fell off greatly this week.

C. C. Casterline has secured his position as Pullman conductor. Casterline is president of the Fort Wayne Typographical Union.

The Bass Machine shop is running a force of mechanics night and day. The firm has more work on hand at present than at any time since 1875.

The case of Oliver Little vs. Jessipe Lelone has been appealed to the circuit court from Justice Meade. A. H. Bittinger is counsil in the case.

The thieves who recently bagged a snug boodle in the city, have operated at Warsaw, Roanoke and South Bend. At each place they made a haul.

Sherman, one of the men sentenced to prison, left a valise full of dentist tools, clothing, etc., with the sheriff. Mr. Platt J. Wise will sell the stuff to-morrow.

We are informed that the printers have given up the boycott business and have cleverly apologized to the merchants for their action in that respect. All is now serene.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL are as follows: Warmer, generally fair weather, southwesterly winds.

Col. C. A. Zollinger went to Chicago to-day. The colonel says he is sure of the appointment as pension agent of Indiana, and expects Senator Voorhees to call the matter up soon.

"Mr. Thomas Butler, foreman of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago round house, in Fort Wayne, Ind., accompanied by his wife and child, arrived in the city on the fast line this morning. Mr. Butler is off on a short vacation, which he is improving by visiting friends and familiar places. He will remain in the city a couple of days," says the Altoona Times.

Joe Manier is on trial before Judge O'Rourke and a jury for burglarizing the residence of Theodore Nieman, and shooting at him. Miss Carrie Hortsman, who was at the Nieman house at the time, positively swore one of the robbers was Joe Manier. A little daughter of Mr. Nieman also said Joe Manier shot at her father. So far the testimony is decidedly against Manier. The case went to the jury at 4:30 this afternoon. The case looks bad for Manier. A big crowd attended the trial.

Albert A. Luce has filed in the federal court here a suit to recover $15,000 from the Perkin's wind mill and axe company, of St. Joseph county. This case like others, will likely be taken to Indianapolis. The federal authorities are too busy to hold court in Fort Wayne, although the law provides for it. A few changes in the federal judiciary might stimulate others to a sense of their duty.

It is rumored that a posse of constables raided Anna Monroe's house of ill fame last night. Justice Chase disposed of the people without the assistance of the prosecutor or any one else, save Deppler and Rinehart, the informers. Justice Chase is urging the county commissioners to appoint Deppler a constable of Washington township. The fellow has no residence and never lived in one place longer than thirty days. Then he was in jail. Still the north side milll of justice grinds its peculiar grist where a change of venue is not demanded.

Hon. E. L. Chittenden has returned from Chicago. He tells us that Harvey Lourie, city civil engineer of Denver, Col., a former Fort Wayne boy, has a fine display of sewer flushers and sanitary appliances at the Chicago exposition. Colonel Chittenden also denies the rumor that a former Fort Wayne belle, now a resident of Chicago, had eloped with a Cincinnati board of trade man. He says the woman and her husband have separated, hence the rumor. THE SENTINEL does not care to give names, because there is too much scandalous gossip about affairs that should not worry the public,

CLIPPING ITS WINGS.

The Wabash to Lose Its Indianapolis and Michigan City Branch.

It is now pretty certain the Wabash will lose its Indianapolis and Michigan City branch, leaving no object or purpose to continue the division headquarters at Peru. Fort Wayne is the proper place for Supt. Stevens and Col. Sweet. At St. Louis, W. S. Wayne the surviving trustee in the mortgage on the Indianapolis division of the Wabash system, filed a petition in the United States circuit court, alleging that default has been made in the payment of the interest on the bonds, and he asked permission to bring foreclosure proceedings in the federal court of Indiana, making the Wabash receivers a party thereto and ordering the receivers to turn over the road within thirty days to whomsoever may be appointed by the Indiana court. The petition was granted, and within thirty days the Wabash system will lose one of the most important branches, known as the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago road, and the Michigan and Indianapolis road.

JUST FORMULATED.

The New Rules Regulating Appeals to the Supreme Court.

The supreme court yesterday made a ruling on the act of April 13, 1885, governing the submission of appeals. In brief, the rules are as follows: Parties who appeal under the provisions of the act shall file the record of the cause with the clerk of the court together with an assignment of errors and shall, in case the appealers are residents of this state, cause process to be issued by the clerk of this court within ten days, but if the appellees are not residents, the appellant shall obtain a form of notice from the clerk for publication wherein a time for the hearing of such cause shall be fixed so as to allow publication to be made for three successive weeks, and thirty days to elapse from the time of the last publication, when notice shall have been given by service of summons or by service of notice upon the attorneys of record of appellee; or in case notice by publication has been given or provided herein, the cause shall at the expiration of thirty days from the service of such summons, or the service of notice upon the attorneys, or the giving of notice by publication, be deemed submitted unless for cause shown no order of submission is made.

UNITED AGAIN.

The Captured Union Colors Returned at Kokomo.

KOKOMO, Sept. 24.—At the reunion of the 39th and 57th Indiana Volunteer regiment here yesterday, Colonel Wiley, at the head of the Texas delegation, returned a flag wrested from the 57th Indiana by Corporal Crook, a confederate. Colonel Wiley made a neat speech for peace and prosperity.

This was responded to by Department Commander David N. Foster, of Indiana, who said he could not expect to fitly voice the emmotions he felt at receiving this old flag, torn by shot and shell, and tattered by service. Who can tell what it typified to the gallant men of the Fifty-seventh? Under its folds they fought on many a bloody field. They rallied around it in disaster, and followed it to deeds of glory. They had never thought to see it again. Enemies wrested it away and carried it they knew not where. But they are enemies no longer. The stars and bars float nowhere in the land, and if, perchance, they bring out, sometimes, and gaze upon those tattered emblems of the confederacy it is that they may recall some sad memory of the past, and not that they sorrow over the lost cause. This dear old flag is their flag. They, as we, hail it as the emblem of an indissoluble union, a reunited union. It is from their hands it comes back to you, survivors of the Fifty-seventh. Take it, comrades, rejoicing that war is over, and white-winged peace hovers over all the land.

As Commander Foster closed his speech there were loud cries of "Let's see the flag! unfurl it!" The banner was then upheld by Corporal Crook, and the battle torn emblem waved aloft, amid great enthusiasm and long continued cheering. The face of Colonel Blanche—sturdy old soldier as he is—was suffused with emotion, and there were moistened eyes all around him.

Rev. T. D. Thorp, a member of the Fifty-seventh, now pastor of the Simpson M. E. church, at Fort Wayne, received the colors on behalf of the regiment in a glowing spirit, fervent with gratitude for the better days that have fallen upon the republic—the era of peace and national brotherhood.

In the fight at Franklin the Indiana regiment had but 297 men engaged. These were thrown out as skirmishers. In ten minutes there were lost in killed and wounded and missing 156 men. The returned colors went with them.

Another touching feature of the reunion was the return of a confederate flag by the union soldiers. The colors were taken from a Tennessee regiment.

Hon. R. C. Bell returned yesterday from Muskegon, Mich. On the train were five handsome deer purchased by Mr. J. H. Bass for his Brookside farm. One of the deers, a buck, died from fright.

The Wabash shops will be closed tomorrow and Saturday.

Charley Beebee and Lou Oliver were fined to-day for gambling. They make a contest as to the fees charged by the police.

ROUMELIA.

PHILLIPOPPOLIS, September 23.—All the Mussulmans enrolled in the militia of Roumelia have been discharged from service as a precautionary measure against conveying military secrets to Turkey. The sympathy of the Mussulmans is undoubtedly with the Porte and and if permitted to remain in the army they would probably fraternize with the Turkish soldiers. Prince Alexander declares he is able to withstand the attacks of all the forces the Sultan can rally to support his claims in Roumelia.

COUNTERFEITERS BEWARE.

A Michigan Concern Enjoined.

[From the Rochester Morning Herald.]

The following injunction has been obtained by the Hop Bitters Company, of Rochester, N. Y., against Collatinus D. Warner, of Reading, Michigan, prohibiting him from manufacturing or selling "German Hop Bitters."

The President of the United States of America to Collatinus D. Warner, of Reading, Mich., his servants, workmen, salesmen and agents, and each and every one of them:

Whereas, it has been represented unto the Justices of our Circuit Court, the Hon. Stanley Matthews, and the Hon. Henry B. Brown, at Detroit, within and for said district, sitting as a court of Chancery, that you, Collatinus D. Warner, are manufacturing and selling a medicine named German Hop Bitters, in fraudulent imitation of the Hop Bitters made and sold by complainant; your said medicine being devised, calculated and intended to mislead the public into purchasing such counterfeit goods as the manufacture of the complainant.

We therefore, in consideration of the premises, do strictly enjoin you, the said Collatinus D Warner and all and every the persons before named, from using the words "Hop Bitters" on any fluids contained in bottles so as to induce the belief that such fluids are made by complainant; and further, from manufacturing, selling or offering for sale, any bitters or other fluids in the bottles and with labels, and in the general form in which you were manufacturing and selling the bitters, called by you German Hop Bitters, on the filling of the bill; or in any other bottles, or with any other labels contrived or designed to represent or induce the belief that the bitters or fluids sold by you are the goods of the complainant, until the further order of the court. * * *

SARATOGA, Sept. 24.—There were fully as many ladies and prominent personages in the Casino at 11:30 this morning, to witness the proceedings of the democratic state convention, as attended the opening of the republican convention two days ago. George Raines was elected temporary chairman.

Raines, on taking the chair, addressed the convention at some length. All references to President Cleveland were greeted with cheers. Representatives of anti-monopoly leagues and the State Traders assembly then addressed the convention briefly. Burke Cochrane then offered strong resolutions against civil service laws, which were greeted with tremendous applause. Those resolutions are similar to those adopted by Tammany hall some weeks ago. At 2:15 p. m. the convention adjourned until 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Hamilton's Resignation Refused.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 24.—It is understood that the president has decided not to make a change in the office of surgeon general of the marine hospital service and will not accept Dr. Hamilton's resignation.

The president has appointed the following commission to mark the boundary between a portion of the Indian Territory and the state of Texas to act in conjunction with a similar commission appointed by the governor of Texas: Maj. W. R. Livermore, Lieut. Thos. L. Casey and Lieut. Lansing H. Beach, of the corps of engineers of the United States of America.

The president appointed the following collectors of customs: Charles C. Sweeny, district of Galveston, Texas; Otto L. Threaghe, district of Salvria, Texas; J. J. Cochs, district of Brazos, De Santiago, Texas.

The president named fifteen fourth class Ohio postmasters, and these in Indiana: Brownstown, Oscar Allen; Middletown, Wilson N. Showalter.

COMMISSIONER EATON AND PRESIDENT CLEVELAND ON CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

Mr. Dorman B. Eaton, chairman of the civil service commission, declares that the statement that he had charged his expenses at Washington to the government, is a wanton falsehood. He further says that he did not tender his resignation, about the time the present administration came in and that he would not then have tendered it, had it been requested, as he thought a change at that time contrary to the spirit of the civil service act.

The following letter of resignation by Mr. Dorman B. Eaton, chairman of the civil service commission and the presidents reply thereto, which was received by Mr. Eaton this morning, have been furnished the associated press for publication:

U. S. CIVIL SERVICE COMM'N,
WASHINGTON, D. C.,
July 28, 1885.

SIR:—In execution of a purpose, of which I informed you several weeks since, I very respectively tender my resignation as civil service commissioner, but out of deference to your wishes, I will not urge its acceptance until such time in the autumn, as you will find it convenient to make a new appointment.

It may not, I hope, be thought, inappropriate, if I add some words of explanation. Prior to the passage of the civil service act of January 16th, 1883, I had held under three earlier presidents, and was then holding under President Arthur, an official position closely analogous to my present office, as civil service commissioner. For nearly the whole period I had served without compensation and had been compelled to bear my own traveling and other expenses, including those of a journey to Europe and the preparation of an extensive report, made at the request of one of these presidents, but endorsed by congress. I had taken an active part by which my time was largely taxed, in connection with the preparation and passage of that law. When the time arrived for executing its provisions, it seemed to me that I could not be fairly called upon to make a further sacrifice of my private interests, in aid of civil service reform. Besides the enemies of reform were so kind as to charge that I had promoted the act for a treble purpose of gaining notoriety, an office, and salary. But President Arthur, without the least intimation to me of his purpose, nominated me, and I was confirmed as a commissioner. When I thought to decline, the friends of reform, with whom I had labored many years in its behalf, insisted that I was in duty bound to accept and these enemies with amiable consistency, made clear their purpose of charging any refusal on my part, as a cowardly shrinking from the speedy and disgraceful failure to follow any attempt to execute so chimerical and impracticable a statute. In such a situation I had hardly a choice, but I entered upon my official duties with the declared purpose of remaining hardly more than a year, in which at least the constructive work of making rules and regulations and of enforcing a new system, at its most difficult stages, could be accomplished. At the end of that time I had become more deeply than ever interested in the practical application of the new system. Its great utility and easy process had gained the commendation of the president, united more largely the party in its favor and seemed from a committee of thirteen members of the Democratic house of representatives, a unanimous report declaring the great usefulness of the law and rules and commending what is desired as the intelligent, efficient, non partisan and conscientious work of the civil service commission. I could then see no obligation on me to remain longer. That had been done which the enemies of reform had declared to be impossible. The law and the rules were indicated, but there were impractical methods which were not fully matured and I remained to take a part in their development. When a few months later I was about to insist on being relieved then friends dissuaded me by urging that there would be a critical period, in case a new party should come into power and I saw plainly from hostile journals that I should be charged, if I resigned, with fleeing from the perils of that crisis. It was clear enough that no excuse from long service and declaration of my confidence in the reform policy of the presidential candidate and statesmen of the Democratic party, would relieve me from the damaging plausibility of such a charge. As a private citizen I could scorn the imputation, but as a public officer and as being in a private way somewhat identified with the cause of civil service reform, I had no right to make an opportunity for its natural enemies, in either party, to use such a charge to its injury. There was another reason why I could not tender my resignation and should have refused to do so, had it been requested at the time of your accession to office; for I should regard it as a pernicious precedent, utterly repugnant to the spirit of the civil service act, to treat the office of civil service commissioner as a political one, and hence as one to be filled at the beginning of each presidential change. These considerations constrained me to continue in my place until the reform policy of your administration so clearly defined in your declaration, should be as unmistakably developed in your acts as president as it had been in your acts as governor of New York. That time has arrived and no candid man can longer pretend to regard that policy as indefinite or doubtful. Every one of the five months of your administration during which the civil service act and rules have been enforced with as much breadth, firmness and fidelity as under that of President Arthur, has not only added new evidence to the utility of the new system upon which he congratulated the country, but has made more definite the settled purpose of your administration to faithfully enforce both the law and the rules in the future.

The few changes you have made in the rules, have but added to their justice and efficiency. So far as I have been able to learn, there is not a member of your cabinet, who has not, as the result of his experience in office, a higher sense than before of the need of enforcing that merit system in the public service, which the civil service act and the rules have established. * * * * * * It is really an issue between the people and the politicians, a contest for a spoil, system of office on one side and for a merit system of office on the other. The friend of the latter contend for the free opportunity of every citizen to win an office for himself, by his own merits; the former for the exclusive rights of great officers and great politicians to use all the hundred thousand places they can control and all the assessments they can extort, to bribe voters, to buy the press, to elect themselves and to keep their party in power, against the will of the people. Between these extremes there is unquestionably a large number of candid and patriotic citizens. I do not refer to these facts, so decisive of the perpetuity of the merit system, with vain conceit that if they were otherwise or the prospect was discouraging, my remaining a commissioner would avail anything; but I wish to leave no doubt of my absolute faith in the continuing triumph of a reform policy and no friend of reform has the least reason for thinking I ought longer to remain in my office. DORMAN B. EATON.

CLEVELAND'S REPLY.

Dorman B. Eaton.

DEAR SIR: I cannot refrain from expressing my sincere regret, that you have to withdraw from the position in the public service, where your intelligent performance of duty has been of inestimable value to the country. The friends of civil service reform and all those who desire good government, fully appreciate your devotion to the cause in which you early enlisted, and they have seen with satisfaction that your zeal and faithfulness have not led you to suppose that the reform in which you was engaged, is unsuited to the rules which ordinarily govern progress in human affairs, or that it should at once reach perfection and universal acceptance. You have been willing patiently to accept good results as they step by step, could be gained, holding every advance with unyielding steadfastness. The success which has attended the work of civil service reform, is largely due to the fact that its practical friends have proceeded upon the theory that real and healthy progress can only be made as such of the people who cherish pernicious political ideas, long fostered and encouraged by vicious partianship, are persuaded that the change contemplated by the reform offers substantial improvement and benefits. A reasonable toleration for old prejudices, a graceful recognition of every aid, a sensible utilization of every instrumentality that promises assistance and a constant effort to demonstrate the advantages of the new order of things, will in the future be the means by which the opposition of incorrigible spoilsmen, will be rendered ineffectual and the cause placed upon a sure foundation. Of course there should be no surrender of principle nor backward step and all laws for the enforcement of the reform should be rigidly executed; but the benefits which its principles promise, will not be fully realized unless the acquiescence of the people is added to the stern assertion of a doctrine and the vigorous execution of the laws. It is a source of congratulation that there are so many friends of civil service reform marshalled on the practical side of the question, and the number is not greater of those who profess friendliness for the cause, and yet mischievously and with supercilious self righteousness, discredit every effort not in exact order with their attenuated ideas. They decry with carping criticism the labor of those actually in the field of reform; and, ignoring the conditions which bound and qualify every struggle for a radical improvement in the affairs of government, demand complete, immediate perfection. The reference in your letter to the attention of the members of my cabinet to the merit system, established by the civil service law, beside being entirely correct, exhibits an apprehension of honest endeavor in the direction of reform and a disposition to do justice to proved sincerely, which is most gratifying. If such treatment of those upon whom the duty rests of administrating the government, according to reform methods, was the universal rule and if the embarrassments and perplexities attending such an administration, were fairly regarded by all those who profess to be friendly to such methods, the avowed enemies of the cause, would be afforded less encouragement. I believe in civil service reform and its application in the most practicable form attainable, among other reasons, because it opens the door for the rich and the poor alike, to a participation in public office—holding this view, I hope the time is at hand when all our people will see the advantages of reliance upon merit and fitness instead of a dependence on the caprice or selfish interest of those who impudently stand between the people and the machinery of their government. In the one case, a reasonable intelligence and the education which is freely furnished to the youth of our land, are the credentials to office; in the other, the way is found in the favor secured by a participation in partisan work, often unfitting a person morally, if not mentally and physically, for the responsibilities and duties of public employment. You will agree with me, I think, that the support which has been given to the present administration, in its efforts to preserve and advance reform, by a party returned to power after an exclusion for many years from participation in the places attached to the public service; confronted with a new system preceding the re-distribution of such places in its interest; called upon to surrender advantages which a perverted partizanship had taught the American people belong to success and perturbed with the suspicion, always engendered in such an emergency, that their rights in the conduct of this reform had not been scrupulously regarded, should receive due acknowledgment and should confirm our belief that there was a sentiment among the people better than a desire to hold office, and a patriotic impulse upon which he can safely rest the integrity of our institutions and the strength and perpetuity of our government.

I have determined to request you to retain your present position until the 1st of November next, at which time your resignation may become operative. I desire to express my entire confidence in your attachment to the cause of civil service reform and your ability to render it efficient aid, and I indulge the hope and expectation that notwithstanding the acceptance of your resignation, your interest in the object for which you have labored so assiduously, will continue beyond the official term which you surrender.

Yours very truly,
GROVER CLEVELAND.

JOURNAL of PROCEEDINGS

Of the Common Council of the City of Fort Wayne.

REGULAR SESSION, SEPT. 22, 1885.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

We, the committee to whom was referred the resolution of Councilman Kessler in regard to the building known as the "Good Shepherd" church, beg leave to report that we have examined said building and find that it is safe and in good condition. We would recommend that the mayor issue orders to the marshal, the deputy marshals, the chief of police and the police to look after unoccupied houses within the city limits and to prevent, so far as possible, damage to the same by mischievous and other persons, as was the case with the "Good Shepherd" church building.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

We, the committee appointed to investigate the alley sewer between Carr and Lafayette streets, running from Wallace to Virginia streets, respectfully report that we find said alley sewer has not been constructed in accordance with the plans and specifications. At one point the sewer lacks three feet of having the specified depth and varies at other points from one to two feet. On account of the variation in the depth of the sewer C. H. Wallermath was compelled to abandon said sewer and drain into the alley sewer south of his property, thereby causing him extra expense of $25.00. We recommend that the city treasurer be instructed to refund to C. H. Wallermath the sum of $25.00 and that the same amount be collected from Joseph Dethemer, the contractor who built said alley sewer. If Joseph Dethemer refuses to refund said sum, we recommend that he be debarred from further work for the city.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

We, your special committee to whom was referred the report of the city civil engineer in regard to the water spout situated at the corner of Main and Harrison streets, would respectfully report that we have examined the same and, as we do find a place as suitable as the present location, would therefore recommend that it remain.

REPORT OF COUNCILMAN OF THE THIRD WARD.

As a member of the council from the Third ward I submit the following report as to the street commissioner's report in reference to the condition of the sidewalks on the west side of Calhoun street between Baker and Brackenridge streets. I find that all of said walk has been repaired and placed in passable safe condition, excepting that portion fronting on Nos. 216 and 218 Calhoun street. I also found portions of the walk between Baker and Chicago streets out of repair. I would respectfully recommend that the street commissioner serve the proper notice upon the respective owners to repair such defective sidewalks at once and upon their failure so to do that the street commissioner proceed according to law.

AGREEMENT.

This memorandum witnesseth that the Fort Wayne Manufacturing Company, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, upon the conditions hereinafter stated, now hereby grant permission to the city of Fort Wayne to enter upon lot No. 2, Hamilton's fifth addition to the city of Fort Wayne, and excavate for and construct a sewer the route as now shown upon the specification now on file in the city engineer's office of said city. The condition on that the said city will construct said sewer with as little damage to said lot as possible, and that it will cause the contractor to remove and preserve for use and ownership all of the brick of the old sewer now situated on said premises, and the said city is to cause said contractor to replace said brick exactly as it now exists on the same location and to the same height, and any brick lost or destroyed in the construction and put in place at times to keep said sewer in a good condition of repair. Said rebuilding to be of the same character as now exists thereon and to be made to the satisfaction of A. D. Prosser, of said city, and the city each contribute one-half of the

THE Marquis of Salisbury is fully six feet in height, and has a rather unwieldly figure. In speaking he runs naturally to a melancholy that is very interesting in and of itself, and at times rises to pathos. At best he is terse, vigorous, and clear; not the equal of Gladstone at any time, but probably the next in rank.

THERE is prospect of relief for a suffering community. The druggists of Philadelphia, which is the head quarters of the patent medicine business, say that the rate-cutting on these medicines has become so great that there is no longer any profit either for the manufacturer or the seller. That being the case, their production will soon cease, and sick people will have an opportunity to get well.

ONE of the largest fruit farms in the world is situated in the southern part of Florida, and is owned by E. A. Osborn, of Middletown, N. Y. It comprises 2,500 acres, and is covered with over 200,000 cocoanut trees. So far the undertaking has cost over $100,000. As the cocoanut only thrives south of the frost line and near the coast, the owner of this farm has a practical monopoly of that trade in Florida.

A LONDON journal, quoting statistics to back it up, presents as a moral paradox the statement that the most poorly paid working girls in the metropolis are those engaged in the work of sewing and binding Bibles. It adds that "for every heathen abroad who can be induced to use the sacred volume for anything else than gun-wadding, a dozen of these girls are driven to perdition at home."

All the children live within a mile and a-half of the old homestead.

THE Scientific American contains a wood-cut of a horse said to be the strongest in the world. It is of a Belgian breed, is about six feet high, and weighs 1,800 pounds. It is a clumsy-looking animal, with a small head, strongly suggesting that of a camel, set upon an extremely thick neck, a round, compact body, heavy shoulders and haunches, and thick legs, but not remarkably large hoofs, the latter being fairly high and of good shape.

Low spirits and mental depression are frequently the companions of bodily ailments. With the physical organization restored to its normal vigor, the spirits take on new activity. Sam Hemple, the well known comedian, after a period of lassitude and depression used Mishler's Herb Bitters, and he has quickly restored to his old energy. When has professional friends would inquire, "What has came over the spirit of your dreams?" Sam would reply, "Mishler's Herb Bitters."

Indigestion Cured!

I suffered for more than five years with indigestion, scarcely able to retain the simplest food on my stomach. The burning sensation was almost intolerable, and my whole system was deranged. I was wakeful and could not sleep, and consequently more or less nervous all the time. I declined in flesh, and suffered all the usual depression attendant upon this terrible disease. In a word, I was miserable. At last, failing to find relief in anything else, I commenced to use Swift's Specific. I began to improve at once. The medicine toned up the stomach, strengthened the digestive organs, and soon all that burning ceased, and I could retain food without the slightest difficulty. Now my health is good, and can eat anything in the shape of food, and digest it without the slightest difficulty. I most cheerfully bear this testimony, because there are hundreds suffering as I was, and I am sure they can be as readily healed. Take the prescribed dose after eating, instead of before.

Free From Malaria.

In the fall of 1884 I was taken with a case of malarial fever which prostrated me both body and mind. I was drugged after the old fashion with mercury and other mineral mixtures, but with no good results. My health was shattered and my energy gone. My legs and feet would swell, and I had what everybody thought was dropsy. These symptoms alarmed me, and I was ready to grasp at any remedy suggested. A friend advised me to try Swift's Specific. I procured three bottles and commenced its use. The swelling soon subsided. I have taken the three bottles, which have made a perfect cure, and I feel like a new man to day. There never was a more meritorious medicine offered to suffering humanity. It has wrought wonders for me. WILLIS JONES.

HUGH CONWAY.

THE AUTHOR OF "CALLED BACK."

The phenomenal popularity of the tale entitled "Called Back" caused universal interest to be felt in its author, Mr. F. J. Fargus, better known by his nom de plume, "Hugh Conway." His untimely death at Monaco, on the 15th of May, cut short a brilliant career in the midst of its first fulfillments. He was but thirty-seven years of age. There is something profoundly melancholy in the thought that Mr. Fargus had for so many years worked on patiently and persistently almost unknown, until on a sudden success and popularity came to him, and gave to him not merely money, but the position and reputation which are far dearer to a literary man. His success was startling, but it was not undeserved. He could tell a story to a generation that were very eager to have stories told to them, and were beginning to get a little weary of the purposeless and bloodless pamphlets which had of late been usurping the place of romance. Mr. Fargus was born in Bristol, (Eng.), in the year 1847. Like many adventurous, imaginative boys, he conceived a passion for the sea. Instead of thwarting this inclination, his father wisely decided to give him some experience of nautical existence by placing him on board the school frigate Conway, at Liverpool. He pursued his sea-training with considerable good fortune, but afterward decided to go into business, and eventually became a partner in the principal auctioneering firm in Bristol, England. He now developed a literary faculty, and, under the "pen-name" of "Hugh Conway," wrote a number of short stories and verses, many of the latter being set to music. In the Winter of 1883 there appeared in Arrowsmith's Journal (a local Bristol publication) a story entitled "Called Back." Its weird and Poe-like incidents took the public fancy amazingly. Like Lord Byron, he awoke and found himself famous. The novelette sold by hundreds of thousands. Offers of literary work came in on all sides. That he was a genius, other tales besides "Called Back" and "Dark Days" attest, notably some of those which originally appeared in Blackwood, and which were afterward collected and published in two volumes under the title of "Bound Together." All his stories show that he could depict character as well as invent incident, and that he possessed a vein of delicate humor as evinced in the creation of the two bachelor brothers. During the past year he decided to give up business, and devote himself entirely to literature. It is to be feared that he had overtasked his powers in endeavoring to fulfill the engagements he had made. Mr. Fargus was popular in his native city, not only as a writer, but as a citizen and a commercial man.

M. BARTHOLDI.

The Creation of the Great Statue of LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD.

This noble figure soon to be erected on Bedloe's Island in New York Bay will be the Colossus of the World, being more than five times the height of any similar statue now in existence.

M. Bartholdi is an artist of the heroic type, and belongs to that school who make marble express a thought, but whose grand ideas leap forth in bronze and fill the beholder with awe at the boldness of their conception and the grandeur of their execution. Should M. Bartholdi decide to visit this country which it is hoped he soon will do, he will be received with more eclat than any foreigner who has recently set foot on our shores in years.

INSECTS AS FOOD.

A Subject of Interest to Every Philanthropist.

A gentleman of considerable reputation as a naturalist, and with an ambition to be considered a benefactor to his race, has written a book on whose title page appear the following words: "Why Not Eat Insects?" He shows, what is by no means new, that they are very numerous, and exist in great variety. It requires little argument to demonstrate the proposition that they are "within the reach of all," including the poorest. The statement is then made, the truthfulness of which none will question, that their number might be greatly reduced with obvious advantage to all persons, especially to farmers and fruitgrowers. It is a well-known fact that food crops in various parts of the world are often destroyed by insects. That nearly all the insects injurious to vegetation are of fine flavor, and very numerous, the author of this work declares from personal experience to be true. He says he knows whereof he speaks, for he has tasted them in various ways, and was astonished to see how appetizing they are.

Many of them are delicious when eaten raw, while others are improved by cooking. Many of them have a gamey, spicy, or peppery flavor which makes them very appetizing. It is seldom necessary to use condiments on them. He says insects furnish a variety of agreeable flavors not found in the long list of vegetables and animal substances commonly employed for food, even when they are prepared for the table by the most skillful cooks. The art of cooking insects is yet in its infancy, and, as a consequence, their possible value as articles of food has not been ascertained. He advises not only epicures, but dyspeptics, and all who have poor appetites or suffer from indigestion, to try insects. He insists that many of them are delicious from the first, while the taste for others is acquired.

The arguments made by this writer in favor of eating insects are all good, if they are not convincing. He might have added to them how birds, animals, and fish thrive that live principally, if not entirely, on insects. The whale is an insect-eater, and, as is well-known, assumes enormous proportions, while it is very fat, active, and strong, and ordinarily lives a century if it does not meet a violent death. The giant ant-eater is a formidable beast, remarkable for its strength and long life. The most beautiful as well as the most musical of all our song birds subsist almost entirely on a diet of insects. The mocking-bird soon loses its superior gift of song and imitation if deprived of spiders, which constitute its favorite article of food. Here is a suggestion that opera singers would do well to take advantage of.

A distinguished ornithologist states that the metallic luster on the plumage of birds is due to the insects they eat. Birds that devour grain, fish, and vegetables have homely or unattractive plumage, but the feathers of the birds that eat bugs, ants, and a variety of small insects, are very beautiful. The crow, which eats corn and meat, is an awkward, clumsy, disagreeable bird, that produces a most discordant sound, and has no friends. The lady bird, however, is a marvel of beauty and loveliness, and spends its time, when not displaying its fine plumage, in eating insects.—Chicago Times.

RIDDEN THE AMERICAN GOAT.

A St. Louis Mongolian tells a reporter of the Globe-Democrat that Masonry was introduced in China about sixty years ago, by an Englishman. It now extends through all the Kingdom, having lodges and chapters in every principal city. It was established among the Chinese of America about fifteen years ago, and St. Louis is the only large city which has no lodge. "We call ourselves United Brother Masons, and the only difference between our ritual and the Caucasians, is that one is written in Chinese, the other in English. In China the thirty-two degrees are administered, but in this country we are not allowed to take more than three degrees—the entered apprentice, fellow-craft, and master degree. I don't know why it is, but this restriction is placed upon us here; in order to go higher than the third degree we must return to China. There are about 20,000 Chinese Masons in America. In the San Francisco lodges there are from 15,000 to 20,000; in New York there is a membership of fully 1,000. The meetings are conducted the same as in the English-speaking lodges, the ceremonies, officers, etc., being identical. Monkey business? Oh, yes, we make all new candidates ride the goat. Our initiation has the same delights and terrors for the victim, and we have lots of fun, of course.

Attention, Railroad Men!

"I suffered for more than a year with indigestion. I was very bilious, occasionally having a dumb chill followed by fevers which prostrated me. I took Simmons Liver Regulator, and am thoroughly satisfied that it is all that it is recommended for indigestion and bilious complaints, for mine was a stubborn case. Many of my friends speak of it and they all agree that it possesses all the virtues you claim for it." A. H. Hightower, conductor C. R. R., Ga.

THE story which comes from Paris, that Bismarck has his eye on Cuba, with the intention of eventually acquiring that island for Germany, is the drollest political romance which has come under water during the year. Bismarck's career has not been such as to indicate that he could have a dream so idiotic. Though Spain should offer Cuba to him as a gift, the chances would be greater of a full head of hair again on the German Chancellor than of a perfection of his nation's title to the island. This nation at present is not out of real estate; it is in no mood for acquisition; but, somehow, it doesn't seem to want any foreign power for a neighbor in addition to those it has already. It isn't sociable nor affable. When Cuba passes from the hands of Spain it will be into the hands of the United States.

The Most Wonderful Fluid.

—The blood. It is our life. It must be in good order to go through the very delicate little tubes through which it is constantly coursing. Of itself the fluid is without color, but as we look at it, is a deep red; the corpuscles give it that color, by reason of the iron in them. The corpuscles are so small that it takes 3,100 of them laid in a straight line to make an inch. Brown's Iron Bitters carries iron to these little corpuscles, and thus enriches the blood when it is poor, thus conferring health and vigor. This famous tonic is only a dollar a bottle, at the druggists.

MARY is the commonest name in France, where, as in Italy, the custom prevails of giving the Virgin's name to a boy, in conjunction with a distinctly male appellation. Thus Hugo was Victor Marie, and the late Pope was Giovanni Maria. After Mary come in order of frequency Louis, Joseph, Charles, Henry, John, Francis, Peter, ol, Julius, Maurice, Anthony, Eu- e, Leo, Victor, Augustus, Edward, ..rnest, and George.

THE GREAT REGULATOR

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Are You Bilious?

The Regulator never fails to cure. I most cheerfully recommend it to all who suffer from Bilious Attacks or any Disease caused by a disarranged state of the Liver.

KANSAS CITY, MO. W. R. BERNARD.

Do You Want Good Digestion?

I suffered intensely with Full Stomach, Headache, etc. A neighbor, who had taken Simmons Liver Regulator, told me it was a sure cure for my trouble. The first dose I took relieved me very much, and in one week's time I was as strong and hearty as ever I was. It is the best medicine I ever took for Dyspepsia.

RICHMOND, VA. H. G. CRENSHAW.

Do You Suffer from Constipation?

Testimony of HIRAM WARNER, Chief Justice of Ga.: "I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for Constipation of my Bowels, caused by a temporary Derangement of the Liver, for the last three or four years, and always with decided benefit."

Have You Malaria?

I have had experience with Simmons Liver Regulator since 1865, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the times for diseases peculiar to malarial regions. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation.

WHITE SEAL BURNING OIL

The New York board of health estimates that 30,000 lives have been destroyed by the explosive qualities of petroleum. If every household would adopt the White Seal oil for family use, none of these unfortunate accidents would occur.

WHITE SEAL BURNING OIL

has none of the defects usually found in common oils. It cannot be exploded, does not clog the wick, will not smoke, emits no offensive odor, and prevents the breaking of chimneys.

WHITE SEAL BURNING OIL

is a rich oil for illumination purposes. It is as light in color as pure spring water. It gives a strong steady light, and burns much longer than common oils.

If the White Seal Burning Oil is not sold in your vicinity, send your order direct to us for a barrel or a case containing two neat five gallon cans.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 24, 1887.

THE CITY.

S. W. Dodge returned from the north this morning.

Nathan Ehrman started for a visit to Germany yesterday.

Joe Brown is pitching for the Williamsport, Pa., base ball club.

They are only working eight hours in the Pittsburg machine shop now.

Supt. Stevens, of the Wabash, went west this morning on a special train.

John Scheffer and Philip Lindlag went north on a hunting expedition today.

Anna Schnelker et al. have sold lot 407, Hanna's addition, to Henry Somers, for $2,500.

Borden Grover, of Terre Haute, is in the city the guest of Harry Borden, the young attorney.

Wanted, 500 men to go Siberia. Train leaves at Masonic Temple Friday and Saturday, Sept. 25 and 26.

Mr. Charles Bishop, of Prescott, Ari., is in the city, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Sims Major, of 132 Broadway.

To-night will occur the attractive lecture of Rev. Seineska Ogta on his native Japan, at the Berry Stret M. E. church.

The shooting tournament at the fair grounds closed to-day. The Fort Wayne marksmen acquitted themselves nicely in the shoot.

A man by the name of Dodge died at the residence of Mrs. Taylor, on South Calhoun street. The remains were taken to New York City for interment.

An emigrant train west passed through on the Pittsburg this morning. Only half the train was loaded with emigrants and the balance was made up of peaches.

The coming state committee of the Y. M. C. A., promises to be very largely attended by delegates from almost every part of the state. Our people will give them all a warm reception.

Bartley Campbell's great "Siberia," at the Temple Friday and Saturday night. Advance seats are going so are a few thousand people. This will be the first fashionable theatrical gathering of the season.

John Hogan, the pickpocket, was yesterday sentenced to five years in the prison north and fined $100. Hogan touched a woman at the fair grounds during the reunion and the jury is evidently down on the business.

J. M. Briant, of South Whitley, who was so fortunate as to draw $5,000 in the Louisiana lottery, has purchased the trotting horse, Pea Nut, paying for him $1,000. The next thing he bought was a stop watch to time Pea Nut with.

There was an eclipse of the moon last night but as fair luna was nearly 442,500 miles from the earth, the matter is not of a local character. We might look at exchanges through Prof. Clippenger's telescope, but other papers have a monopoly of this business.

"The Firemens' Home, 24 East Berry street, Fort Wayne, E. W. Lindeman proprietor, is the finest resort in that city, for the thirsty. Billy is a genial host and his friends are legion. 'Gus,' his good-looking assistant, is very polite and attentive," says C. A. Alvord, in the Albion Democrat.

Lieut. Frank Wilkinson carries a handsome cane, the gift of Buel Webster, now a convict at the prison north. The cane is a combination of sole leather bits surrounding a steel rod. Webster is seeking a pardon and may get it. He is termed the best convict at the prison north and the authorities permit him to roam about at will.

Statistics gathered by the state board of health and transmitted to the county health officer, Dr. H. V. Sweringen, show that during the six months ending Sept. 12, there were forty-six suicides in Indiana, while during the corresponding period last year there were fifty-nine. Of these thirty-two were females and fourteen males. Twelve of the suicides were by hanging, which seems to be the favorite way of "shuffling off."

The Gazette states that Mr. M. V. B. Spencer is in Chicago trying to sell the Journal printing establishment. We suppose Mr. Spencer has come to the conclusion that the people of Fort Wayne are wide awake and will not patronize a newspaper that does not give its readers the telegraphic news. Freight train dispatches are good enough for small towns and graveyard communities, but they will never prosper and grow fat in a city the size of Fort Wayne.

Governor Isaac P. Gray, visited the northern prison in an official capacity this week, the first since his election to the governorship. He drove to the prison yesterday morning and inspected the new buildings, as well as old or improvements, and made a tour of the cell houses and shops. In the afternoon he accorded an interview to all the convicts who wished to talk with him, and the number was large. He met his Michigan City friends in the evening.

W. D. Page has returned from Chicago.

Will Cooper will go on the Journal again next Monday.

Mrs. Eli Greensfelder, of Logansport, is visiting relatives in this city.

Geo. Houghton, of Pittsburg, Pa., is in the city visiting his many friends.

Louis Jocquel was registered at the Hotel English, Indianapolis yesterday.

This is frosty weather and a sample of what sailors style the equinoctial storms.

Fred C. Meyer, of Douglas avenue, is just recovering from an attack of rheumatism.

Miss Minnie Adams, of 70 Douglas avenue, returned from Richfield Springs, N. Y., this afternoon.

There will be a great excursion to Petoskey on Sept. 29. The fare for the round trip will be $5.

August Detzer, the Calhoun street druggist, who has been at Chicago for a week, returns to-night.

Mrs. James Humphrey, of Bluffton, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. James Bayliss, at Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Wm. Fleming and daughter, Miss Georgie, were guests at the Grand hotel, Indianapolis, yesterday.

"Miss Minnie Schust, of Fort Wayne, was in the city visiting friends yesterday," says the Grand Rapids Democrat.

Dr. Munhall and the executive committee of the Y. M. C. A., will remain at the Aveline during the meeting of the state convention.

The ditch commissioners have filed, with County Recorder Heller, a report establishing the Gerardot ditch in Jefferson township.

The seventh annual reunion of the 44th regiment, Indiana volunteers, will be held at South Whitley, Ind., on Wednesday, October 21, 1885.

Postal cards are scarce and Postmaster Keough finds he cannot supply the demand. The new cards are not yet plentiful, but his order is in for a cart load of them.

George Ellis, the fellow who criminally assaulted a little girl, was taken to prison by Ferdinand Meyer this morning. Mr. Meyer was especially empowered by Sheriff Nelson.

"Superintendent P. S. O'Rourke, of Fort Wayne, passed through this city yesterday on his way to Butler. He made the News office a short call," says the Kendallville News.

A jolly party, consisting of Henry C. Paul, John C. Peters, T. E. Ellison Will Bond, James M. Barret, Frank Rawles, Fred Meyers and James Thomas, went south to-day on a fox hunt.

'Growler,' in the Fort Wayne Gazette, of Tuesday, contradicts himself no less than five times in his items concerning Eli W. Brown. 'Growler' is a very tiresome fellow, says the Columbia City Post.

Twenty-two years ago yesterday, President Abraham Lincoln issued his great proclamation of emancipation, by which instrument the freedom of the 4,000,000 slaves was secured the first January following.

In the superior court yesterday judgement in favor of Eliza Hanna, was given in foreclosure against Francis B. Kincaid et al. for $458.43. William Smith also obtained judgement on a note for $908.25 against Lewis C. Schutt.

Reports of fifty roads for August, given by the Railroad Gazette, show a decrease of 5 per cent., or leaving out the Wabash, of 2½ per cent. This is inspite of large gains on the Southern Atlantic coast roads and handsome increases by the Southwestern lines.

Carl P. Swain, our only Associated Press reporter, entered a bicycle race at Winchester, Ind., and captured second prize. In the meantime Mr. O. L. Perry takes the telegraph report in Mr. Swain's absence. Double duty, night and day, is telling on the genial manager.

"Rev. T. Thiem, of the German Lutheran church of this city, assisted by two bishops from Fort Wayne, conducted a mission service at Shineman's grove last Sunday morning and afternoon. A collection was taken up from which $45 was realized, which goes to the missionary fund," says the Columbia City Post.

Auditor of State Rice has directed the secretary of state not to recieve, if proferred, the Draper brevier reports of the legislative session of 1885. No provision was made to pay for them and Mr. Rice refuses to make the state liable for the books, which are ready for delivery. Lieut. Governor Manson may issue a senate warrant for the amount but even this Mr. Rice may decline to honor.

F. W. Kuhne and Dr. Leonard will play that great game of chess with live figures at the Princess next Tuesday night. Many people are of the opinion that the game will be a long and tedious. That will not be the case by any means. The limit for each move is fixed at one minute, so that not over thirty minutes will be occupied by the game. Then will follow music, dancing, skating. The little misses to officiate as figures will be pretty as pictures, besides the novel entertainment is for charity

The Wabash shops will be closed Friday and Saturday to cut down expenses. The freight on the road fell off greatly this week.

C. C. Casterline has secured his position as Pullman conductor. Casterline is president of the Fort Wayne Typographical Union.

The Bass Machine shop is running a force of mechanics night and day. The firm has more work on hand at present than at any time since 1875.

The case of Oliver Little vs. Jessipe Lelone has been appealed to the circuit court from Justice Meade. A. H. Bittinger is counsil in the case.

The thieves who recently bagged a snug boodle in the city, have operated at Warsaw, Roanoke and South Bend. At each place they made a haul.

Sherman, one of the men sentenced to prison, left a valise full of dentist tools, clothing, etc., with the sheriff. Mr. Platt J. Wise will sell the stuff to-morrow.

We are informed that the printers have given up the boycott business and have cleverly apologized to the merchants for their action in that respect. All is now serene.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL are as follows: Warmer, generally fair weather, southwesterly winds.

Col. C. A. Zollinger went to Chicago to-day. The colonel says he is sure of the appointment as pension agent of Indiana, and expects Senator Voorhees to call the matter up soon.

"Mr. Thomas Butler, foreman of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago round house, in Fort Wayne, Ind., accompanied by his wife and child, arrived in the city on the fast line this morning. Mr. Butler is off on a short vacation, which he is improving by visiting friends and familiar places. He will remain in the city a couple of days," says the Altoona Times.

Joe Manier is on trial before Judge O'Rourke and a jury for burglarizing the residence of Theodore Nieman, and shooting at him. Miss Carrie Hortsman, who was at the Nieman house at the time, positively swore one of the robbers was Joe Manier. A little daughter of Mr. Nieman also said Joe Manier shot at her father. So far the testimony is decidedly against Manier. The case went to the jury at 4:30 this afternoon. The case looks bad for Manier. A big crowd attended the trial.

Albert A. Luce has filed in the federal court here a suit to recover $15,000 from the Perkin's wind mill and axe company, of St. Joseph county. This case like others, will likely be taken to Indianapolis. The federal authorities are too busy to hold court in Fort Wayne, although the law provides for it. A few changes in the federal judiciary might stimulate others to a sense of their duty.

It is rumored that a posse of constables raided Anna Monroe's house of ill fame last night. Justice Chase disposed of the people without the assistance of the prosecutor or any one else, save Deppler and Rinehart, the informers. Justice Chase is urging the county commissioners to appoint Deppler a constable of Washington township. The fellow has no residence and never lived in one place longer than thirty days. Then he was in jail. Still the north side mill of justice grinds its peculiar grist where a change of venue is not demanded.

Hon. E. L. Chittenden has returned from Chicago. He tells us that Harvey Lourie, city civil engineer of Denver, Col., a former Fort Wayne boy, has a fine display of sewer flushers and sanitary appliances at the Chicago exposition. Colonel Chittenden also denies the rumor that a former Fort Wayne belle, now a resident of Chicago, had eloped with a Cincinnati board of trade man. He says the woman and her husband have separated, hence the rumor. THE SENTINEL does not care to give names, because there is too much scandalous gossip about affairs that should not worry the public.

CLIPPING ITS WINGS.

The Wabash to Lose Its Indianapolis and Michigan City Branch.

It is now pretty certain the Wabash will lose its Indianapolis and Michigan City branch, leaving no object or purpose to continue the division headquarters at Peru. Fort Wayne is the proper place for Supt. Stevens and Col. Sweet. At St. Louis, W. S. Wayne the surviving trustee in the mortgage on the Indianapolis division of the Wabash system, filed a petition in the United States circuit court, alleging that default has been made in the payment of the interest on the bonds, and he asked permission to bring foreclosure proceedings in the federal court of Indiana, making the Wabash receivers a party thereto and ordering the receivers to turn over the road within thirty days to whomsoever may be appointed by the Indiana court. The petition was granted, and within thirty days the Wabash system will lose one of the most important branches, known as the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago road, and the Michigan and Indianapolis road.

JUST FORMULATED.

The New Rules Regulating Appeals to the Supreme Court.

The supreme court yesterday made a ruling on the act of April 13, 1885, governing the submission of appeals. In brief, the rules are as follows: Parties who appeal under the provisions of the act shall file the record of the cause with the clerk of the court together with an assignment of errors and shall, in case the appealers are residents of this state, cause process to be issued by the clerk of this court within ten days, but if the appellees are not residents, the appellant shall obtain a form of notice from the clerk for publication wherein a time for the hearing of such cause shall be fixed so as to allow publication to be made for three successive weeks, and thirty days to elapse from the time of the last publication, when notice shall have been given by service of summons or by service of notice upon the attorneys of record of appellee; or in case notice by publication has been given or provided herein, the cause shall at the expiration of thirty days from the service of such summons, or the service of notice upon the attorneys, or the giving of notice by publication, be deemed submitted unless for cause shown no order of submission is made.

UNITED AGAIN.

The Captured Union Colors Returned at Kokomo.

Kokomo, Sept. 24.—At the reunion of the 30th and 57th Indiana Volunteer regiment here yesterday, Colonel Wiley, at the head of the Texas delegation, returned a flag wrested from the 57th Indiana by Corporal Crook, a confederate. Colonel Wiley made a neat speech for peace and prosperity.

This was responded to by Department Commander David N. Foster, of Indiana, who said he could not expect to fitly voice the emmotions he felt at receiving this old flag, torn by shot and shell, and tattered by service. Who can tell what it typified to the gallant men of the Fifty-seventh? Under its folds they fought on many a bloody field. They rallied around it in disaster, and followed it to deeds of glory. They had never thought to see it again. Enemies wrested it away and carried it they knew not where. But they are enemies no longer. The stars and bars float nowhere in the land, and if, perchance, they bring out, sometimes, and gaze upon those tattered emblems of the confederacy it is that they may recall some sad memory of the past, and not that they sorrow over the lost cause. This dear old flag is their flag. They, as we, hail it as the emblem of an indissoluble union, a reunited union. It is from their hands it comes back to you, survivors of the Fifty-seventh. Take it, comrades, rejoicing that war is over, and white-winged peace hovers over all the land.

As Commander Foster closed his speech there were loud cries of "Let's see the flag! unfurl it!" The banner was then upheld by Corporal Crook, and the battle torn emblem waved aloft, amid great enthusiasm and long continued cheering. The face of Colonel Blanche—sturdy old soldier as he is—was suffused with emotion, and there were moistened eyes all around him.

Rev. T. D. Thorp, a member of the Fifty-seventh, now pastor of the Simpson M. E. church, at Fort Wayne, received the colors on behalf of the regiment in a glowing spirit, fervent with gratitude for the better days that have fallen upon the republic—the era of peace and national brotherhood.

In the fight at Franklin the Indiana regiment had but 297 men engaged. These were thrown out as skirmishers. In ten minutes there were lost in killed and wounded and missing 150 men. The returned colors went with them.

Another touching feature of the reunion was the return of a confederate flag by the union soldiers. The colors were taken from a Tennessee regiment.

Hon. R. C. Bell returned yesterday from Muskegon, Mich. On the train were five handsome deer purchased by Mr. J. H. Bass for his Brookside farm. One of the deers, a buck, died from fright.

The Wabash shops will be closed to-morrow and Saturday.

Charley Beebee and Lou Oliver were fined to-day for gambling. They make a contest as to the fees charged by the police.

ROUMELIA.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, September 23.—All the Mussulmans enrolled in the militia of Roumelia have been discharged from service as a precautionary measure against conveying military secrets to Turkey. The sympathy of the Mussulmans is undoubtedly with the Porte and and if permitted to remain in the army they would probably fraternize with the Turkish soldiers. Prince Alexander declares he is able to withstand the attacks of all the forces the Sultan can rally to support his claims in Roumelia.

The Voice of the People.

The people, as a whole never make mistakes, and the unanimous voice of praise which comes from those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, fully justifies the claims of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed, these very claims are based entirely on what the people say Hood's Sarsaparilla has done. Send to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass., for book containing statements of many cures.
